

Hope Baptist Chapel & Community Rooms

Located in the middle of Hebden Bridge, many people find this a convenient place to run their activities. At different times of the week, and alongside church activities, you will find crochet crafts, Brownies, dance classes, a self-help group and other organisations using the rooms. The main chapel provides a venue with an ambience and acoustics like no other building in the town. Nearly £1m has been invested in repairs and restoration work and you will find information, photographs and artefacts dotted around the place that make this a historic and characterful place for meetings, conferences, concerts and a variety of other activities.

The chapel has hosted everything from blues and folk festivals to spoken word events and even a Pakistani food masterclass. It also remains an inclusive place for community worship and prayer. The ground floor chapel pews have cushioned covers and the space is equipped with an 18-channel powered mixer, T-loop hearing system. The main entrance can be reached either from a flight of stone steps or via a gently sloping access ramp through the front garden, which is itself an attractive part of the chapel facilities.

Community rooms are located at the rear of the chapel and accessible from Hope Street via a short ramp. All the ground floor is on the same level, including the toilets, although there is no disabled access to the first floor at present. The main community rooms are equipped with stacking chairs and fold-away tables. Kitchen facilities allow users to provide light refreshments and hot drinks. The toilet block includes a large disabled access space. A partition wall between the Wainsgate and Ebenezer Rooms can be folded back to create one large, L-shaped space.

Hope Baptist Church works closely with event organisers and community groups to ensure the facilities are used to promote spiritual and emotional well-being for all and, alongside other venues in the town, contribute to building a sense of community. This means there is flexibility about working arrangements and consideration about activities that are consistent with the church's ethos and make best use of the spaces that are available.
